Letter from the Co-Pastors

Dearly Beloved,

As we come to the end of our reading of the Essential 100 Bible Texts, we want to encourage you to continue the practice of reading scripture throughout your week. Even if we do not discuss what we read, or study it in a group, the Word nourishes our souls in ways nothing else can. So we thought it would be helpful to share with you some of the devotional resources that people you know use to 'feast on the Word' as they walk in the Way of Christ. As you can imagine, the devotional resources and practices are as varied as the people who use them.

Paul Lepard reports that for him time and environment are very important. Since he teaches during the day, he finds that his devotional time comes at night, "the last thing I do before I turn out the lights." He prefers absolute quiet as he reads one chapter of the Bible at a time. When we aren't doing the Essential 100, he uses the lectionary readings printed each month in the Celtic Cross, concentrating usually on the New Testament text for the day. He uses the "lectio divina" way of reading the scripture (come on Tuesday nights and learn it for yourself!) so that he can hear what the Holy Spirit is saying to him, personally.

Michelle and Jerry Thompson tap into a website on their smart phone each night as they end the day. "We love it because it forces us to sit still at night for a few minutes together and connect with each other and with God." Here's the link: <http://www.crosswalk.com/devotionals/devotions-for-married-couples>.

Amy Shutt uses her ipad or ipod to call up three websites, often as she commutes to work in Conshohocken: www.pray-as-you-go.org offers podcasts for reflective listening; www.sacredspace.ie guides the reader in thinking about a text; www.presbyterianmission.org/ministries/about/ is the web version of the Mission Yearbook, and includes lectionary texts alongside vignettes about Presbyterian mission around the nation and the world.

Donna Hutchison likes "the variety of writers" in the Disciplines book which the Spiritual Formation committee makes available each year for $7. (You can still purchase one for this year.) There is a different writer each week, and "just the right amount of scripture, prayer and reflection for a day."

Deb Voytko finds that Jesus Calling, by Sarah Young, helps her "remember whose she is, and who's in charge." It is a simple book, and "at times simplistic," but she looks forward to reading it every day.

Taste and see which ones help satisfy your hunger for spiritual food, and give you strength for your journey.

Good Lent,
Kerry and Carter

Invite a Friend Sunday, Sunday, March 24

It's that time of year again when we dedicate one Sunday of the year as "Invite a Friend Sunday." Now in reality every Sunday is "Invite a Friend Sunday", but we make a big deal of it just once a year and even serve cake in Fellowship Hall following worship—you know that if cake is served, it's a special Sunday! Why do we do this? Well, for a number of reasons:

- We want to offer our church as church home to anyone who doesn't have one.
- We have many wonderful educational events for all ages.
- We have a terrific music program.
- We are a very active four generation church.

By far, most of those interested in finding a new church home come to us because they've heard great things about our church from others. Your comments about our church causes a person to think, "I've heard good things about First Presbyterian—I'll attend service and check it out." Your personal invitation is the clincher! And once they're inside, God takes over, through the actions of all of us, and they see a welcoming church with active members and a place where they can grow closer to God.

—The Hospitality Committee

(Written invitations are available in the lobby for those interested.)

Wednesdays in Lent: for All Ages!

Living the Faith: Everybody's Got a Story (Kerry and Rosie Roseo)

What is your favorite Bible story? What is something you wonder about? Tell me what you imagine heaven is like. Whether we are 5 or 15, 45 or 85, we've got a faith story made up of answers to questions like this. During Lent, we are going to form a "FaithStoryCorps." In family groups or in friend clusters, we will interview, record and preserve each other's faith stories, using photography, art, and digital "studios." And we will begin work on a timeline mural in the downstairs hallway marking God's story thanks to artist Arline Christ.

Exploring the Faith: Walking with God in the Desert (Carter)

It's the next best to visiting the Holy Land! Join Carter for a video series and discussion. In the video, Dr. Ray Vander Laan, a Bible archaeologist gives us insights about Biblical passages and stories related to the "desert" or "wilderness" and ties them to our own "desert" and "wilderness" experiences. Carter will lead a discussion of the video and relevant Biblical passages. You may never look at the Bible in the same way again!

Service for Wholeness, March 13

Join us as we pray for the healing of the our world, as well as for those bodies, lives, and relationships closer to home in need of wholeness. Amy Rossman will share how God has worked in her life and why she is grateful to work at the Cluster Outreach Center.

Salt and Light

A monthly look behind the scenes at the mission and ministry of FPC This month: Outreach Foundation Crisis Nurseries

For more than 30 years The Outreach Foundation has served God's mission by helping to connect Presbyterians to mission opportunities throughout the world. As a result of the AIDs crisis in Africa, our church was drawn to a group of three Crisis Nurseries in Lusaka, Zambia. Crisis Nurseries are emergency transitional homes for orphans and abandoned children, providing care until the child can be safely united with extended, foster, or an adoptive family.

House of Moses provides nursing care 24/7 for orphaned premature and high risk infants. Most of the babies at House of Moses have lost their mothers, many in childbirth. Some are abandoned in the marketplace or streets, and find their way to the orphanage through the police, the Department of Social Welfare, or "Good Samaritans". Although many of the mothers are HIV positive, the infants have better than a 50% chance of not acquiring the virus. Even those who are positive have a good chance with medication and proper care. The Bill and Bette Bryant Crisis Nursery is a safe home saturated with love, prayer, and tender care for toddlers and preschoolers who critically need specialized nutritional and psychological care. In 2010 the nursery moved into a new home with plenty of room to live, learn, and play, and by the end of the year 15 children had been placed with extended family and eight were adopted. House of Martha is a "safe home" for children ages 4-14 who are orphaned, abandoned, or whose families are in crisis. In this nurturing environment, hurting and traumatized boys and girls find refuge, unconditional love and support, and a safe place for the healing process to begin. The ultimate goal is to reunite children with extended family or to place them into adoptive or foster homes.

All three of the rescue homes are within five minutes drive of each other, allowing them to make better use of resources, as well as giving the children an improved place to heal and grow. The primary focus of our Mission Committee is "the health, well-being, and education of children and families in our own community, in our nation, and around the world"---and this organized effort to help children and families in the southern Africa nation of Zambia gives us the opportunity to reach out to the world.

One Great Hour of Sharing Offering

Since 1949, Presbyterians have been contributing to disaster assistance, refugee resettlement, hunger relief, and community development through the annual "One Great Hour of Sharing" offering. Please consider making a contribution to this special offering on Palm Sunday. You can do so by using the special envelopes in the pew, your family "fish bank," or by marking "OGHS" on the memo line of checks made out to First Presbyterian Church.

Post-Sandy Rebuilding Mission Trip, the week of April 21

We are traveling to Jamaica, New York to repair and rebuild homes damaged by Hurricane Sandy. If you would like to go, or have questions, contact Carter, Kerry, or Tom Zeigler.

Update from the Associate Pastor Nominating Committee

The APNC plans to update the congregation on its work throughout the entire search process via the Celtic Cross and monthly messages from the pulpit. On February 10th, the APNC met with two representatives from the Presbytery who are responsible for guiding member churches through the entire search process. Their training included the following topics:

- An introduction and overview of the entire process
- Approvals required from both the Session and the Presbytery
- An overview of the Church Information Form (CIF) process, our first major task.

The Presbytery representatives were very positive about our church, the APNC, and were confident that we would receive a large number of resumes (Pastor Information Forms) from interested candidates.

At this meeting, Bill Campbell was elected to serve as our Moderator. The APNC was provided with the Job Description for the position, which was previously approved by the Session. We were also given a copy of the "Mission Study", a report recently compiled as a result of input from the February Leadership Retreat and later approved by the Session.

Our first major task is to complete the CIF, a very detailed requirement that defines who we are, as a church, and a description of who we are searching for. The "Mission Study" has been a valuable resource in preparing the CIF.

We have begun working on the CIF and plan to have it in the hands of the Session prior to its March meeting. Following Session approval, the CIF will be sent to the Presbytery for approval.

Music Notes

Lent arrived early this year and the choir is working feverishly to learn and polish its Sunday anthems as well as the special music this month. We will open March with a new anthem, "O Love How Deep," by Thomas Keesecker. On the 10th the choir will sing a favorite, "It Is Well With My Soul," by John Ness Beck. March 17th will include two anthems: "E'en So Lord Jesus, Quickly Come," by Paul Manz, and the stunning new "O Blessed Cross of Calvary," by Larson, during the offertory. Palm Sunday will revive the old chestnut, "The Palms," by Faure, and the Handbell Choir will play the exciting, "Hosanna in the Highest" as the prelude. At the Maundy Thursday service our own John Genther will end our choral section with his solo, "Were You There?" Easter morning we will praise God with brass and timpani, children's choirs and our uplifting anthem, "Hark Ten Thousand Harps and Voices," arr. Courtney. We will close the Easter service with our annual "Hallelujah Chorus" sing along, so bring your best voice.

I would like to thank Ron Tonnesson (soloist), Rob Land and Leanne Campbell for participating in the Ash Wednesday service. A special thanks to Beth Ann Straub for cooking the choir's Lenten meal, and a special thanks to Scott Sample for covering for me while I spent a week with my new grandson! Hallelujah!

Acorns of Faith

Miriam loves her Presbyterian Church family. She is active in the church and always fulfills her financial pledge. Her church does wonderful mission work and she wishes she could contribute more to help but, at age 70, she has to watch every penny of her modest, and usually sufficient, income. The last few years have been more challenging because the CD's she bought with her savings just were not paying much interest, only about 1%. She thought, "Wouldn't it be great if there was a way for me to be sure my savings would give me the income I need to help make ends meet and still guarantee that there would be something left for my church after I die?"

One day, Miriam learned from her church friend, Agnes, about something called a charitable gift annuity. With the help of the folks at the Presbyterian Foundation, Agnes, who was Miriam's age, had purchased a $100,000 gift annuity that provided her with $5,100 of income every year for the rest of her life, guaranteed. The income she was receiving was much better than she earned from CD's and $3,967 was tax free each year for her life expectancy. The year she purchased the annuity a substantial portion of it was considered a charitable contribution. From the amount she paid for the annuity, the church would receive a considerable and very welcome contribution for its endowment fund after Agnes died. Charitable gift annuities can be purchased for as little as $10,000 through the Foundation.

Miriam learned that she could find out more by calling Mr. Pat Ohlmann at the Presbyterian Foundation (1-800-858-6127, ext. 5957) or visiting its website at www.PresbyterianFoundation.org. This might be just what she was looking for; the peace of mind of having a guaranteed income for her life and a legacy gift for her church.
